Dear Jil and Harold "old boy"

Thank Sunday felt as if I were in a very comfortable place, It would be difficult to describe what I mean, however I feel very comfortable and content in your home and company. I guess I miss my parents very much so, I loved them both and nothing can fill that void. Yet for reasons I can't quite verbalize I really love being with folks of your generation. A time when one's word was good enough, one's integrity was everything, one's strength of conviction shed light on his character. Am I being silly or maudlin? Or is it alright to cherish a memory of a different era? I am adopting you as my "new" parents - God Bless you both. Love, Don
